ANNOUNCEMENT BY PRESIDENT GRAHAM

"The Summer Schools of the University at Chapel Hill, the State College of Agriculture and Engineering at Raleigh, and the Woman's College at Greensboro are now one. For the summer session of 1934 the University of North Carolina presents for the first time a coordinated and consolidated summer school. The three summer schools will be differentiated according to functions and coordinated under one director for the first six weeks, and will be consolidated for a continuation of all divisions of study and research at Chapel Hill in the second term of six weeks.

"Dr. W. C. Jackson, Dean of the School of Public Administration of the University, formerly Vice-President of the Woman's College and sometime Director of the Summer School of the Woman's College, is the director of the Summer School this year. Cooperating with him as associate directors are Professors N. W. Walker, T. E. Browne, and J. H. Cook with their long and varied knowledge and experience as directors, respectively, of the summer schools at Chapel Hill, State College, and the Woman's College.

"The coordination and consolidation of the resources of the three institutions in one summer school is a significant fact in the educational history of our State. Its cultural excellence and democratic promise of service to schools, colleges, and people of this and other commonwealths is assured in the able and far-sighted direction of Director Jackson and those associated with him in this work of building a more democratically enlightened and spiritually beautiful civilization."—FRANK P. GRAHAM, President.
